Colorado Interfaith Power and Light Congregational Membership Covenant

The mission of Colorado Interfaith Power and Light is to stimulate a faith-based response to the climate crisis by providing education, inspiration and support to all faith communities in Colorado. We encourage faithful stewardship of God's creation stewardship through the promotion of energy conservation, energy efficiency, renewable energy and making the commitment to sustainability. We seek to protect the earth's ecosystems, safeguard public health and ensure sufficient sustainable energy for all.

As an authorized representative of the above congregation or congregational group, I affirm that we are supporting the mission and goals of Colorado Interfaith Power & Light (CoIPL) by committing to one or more of the following activities (check all that apply).

- Arrange for an energy audit of your congregation and begin making energy efficiency improvements to our congregation's buildings;
- Adopt more environment-friendly practices for purchasing, using, and disposing of supplies and for transportation for congregation-related purposes;
- Make a meaningful annual financial contribution to CoIPL (checks may be made out to CoIPL);*
- Encourage your members to join/support CoIPL as individuals;
- Hold an educational program or study series for our members and/or neighbors on energy stewardship and climate change;
- Advocate with public officials to reduce the threat of climate change through public policy;
- Establish an ongoing group (e.g., "green team," "creation care," "earth stewardship committee") within the congregation to address climate change and other environmental concerns.
